To whom it may concern

The team from Inchbrook AV has been involved with the Iziko Museums of Cape Town for since 2002. I have made use of both the hire and the permanent installation divisions of the company.

The excellent service starts the moment contact the Inchbrook staff, the friendly, polite and competent receptionist, the professional attitude of the section that handles the hiring and the team of professionals handling installation.

The hiring division of Inchbrook AV has always delivered on time and I have never had any equipment malfunction, a sure indication that the equipment has been checked and delivered in good working condition. Many of my requests have been at the last minute and on every occasion the company has risen to the challenge and literally, delivered the goods.

Inchbrook AV equipped the Iziko HR Division training center, installing all the modern training aids from a data/video projector to computer driven whiteboards and audio visual system for DVD and video tape presentations.

The largest installation for Iziko by Inchbrook was the "Decade for Democracy" exhibition held at the Iziko William Fehr collection at the Castle in 2004/2005. The exhibition involved 8 video projection screens; TV monitors and the associated audio systems together with stand alone audio systems. For the entire duration of the exhibition (almost a year) there was not a single equipment failure. Inchbrook offered a service contract and this bears testimony to the effectiveness of the contract.

Inchbrook AV has provided a number of data projectors to the Iziko Planetarium and the Iziko Natural History department. The equipment is always bought on tender so the Inchbrook AV pricing is very competitive.

Should you wish to contact me and discuss my dealings with the company you are welcome to contact me on 021 4813901.
